School Supt. Tells 'Em

Largely Public Relations and Education of Board Members

In order to obtain community support for increased teacher salaries, larger public school facilities and improved buildings, Superintendent, through a constructive program of information, should build better relations with the school board, man E. Watson, superintendent of Northbrook schools, said today, July 1, at Northwestern university. He addressed a session of the two-day Conference School Administrators, under sponsorship of the university's school of education on the Evanston campus.

To secure the buildings education will need for the future, community support for beginning salaries of $2,400 and maximum salaries of $5,000-$6,000 for efficient, efficient teachers, take some doing," Mr. Watson declared. "To secure more room, remedial and adjustment teachers, more counselors, psychiatric workers, doctors, and secretaries for the schools, will demand much in the way of public relations. The school to begin is with the board of education.

A country is about as good as its educational system," he stated. "The teacher is the most important cog in the educational wheel. The superintendent should be a master teacher. He should begin with school board.

All provisions new rent control law

With the signature of President Truman on the Housing and Rent Act of 1947, making its sections effective July 1, Chicago area rent office, removed to 226 West Madison Boulevard, 14th floor, continue to administer rent controls in Cook and DuPage counties and will answer questions of landlords and tenants about the new act, it was stated today by Norman B. Shoen, area rent director.

It is important to remember maximum rents remain just as they are under the old law," he said. "There is no provision in the new act that changes rents automatically." Shoen explained that a ten plays the same rent in July as he did in June unless there has been an order issued subsequently, or unless he has voluntarily entered into a lease with the landlord as provided by new Housing and Rent Act of 1947.

The new act provides that in a landlord and tenant voluntarily enter into a valid written lease on or before December 31, 1948, an increase of up to, but not more than, 15 per cent of the maximum rent in effect immediately before the effective date of the lease, is permissible," said Shoen.

Before any rent increase becomes effective under such a lease, he pointed out, a copy of the lease must be filed with the rent office, within 15 days of its signing, together with simple registration-of-lease which landlords can obtain from the Chicago area rent office. Shoen emphasizes that "it is up to the tenant to decide whether he wishes to sign a rent lease."

In general, the tenant who wishes to pay the rent to the landlord is entitled to no more reason to fear eviction than before. Eviction is limited to personal occupancy by the buyer or the landlord himself. Other conditions for which evictions may be made are very specific in the Administrator as the educational adviser to the board of education.

The speaker declared that board members frequently err in that they gradually assume too much of the responsibility, and eventually are accused of interference. He suggested that, whereas board members sometimes are hesitant to ask for information, the superintendent should anticipate such needs and be ready with data. The board "should not be expected to make important and critical decisions until it is informed," he said.

A study undertaken by Mr. Watson of in-service training of members of boards of education in selected communities indicates, he explained, that board members need instruction in the administration and organization of schools, in their duties, in local and outside school systems, in building maintenance, curricula, finances, taxes and personnel problems.

Methods and procedures found most valuable by Mr. Watson in training the board included conferences and discussions with the superintendent, plus attendance at community meetings and school board associations, special board meetings to discuss educational problems only, and visits to local and outside school systems. He also recommended the use of the school board bookshelf with a definite reading program arranged by the superintendent and his staff. Still another suggestion was careful use of reports from the superintendent, covering financial, budget, insurance and salary matters.

Residential permits only to be issued in unincorporated areas

On the motion of Commissioner George F. Nixon, a director of the National Association of Home Builders, the county board this week adopted a resolution to limit the issuance of building permits in unincorporated areas to residential building during the present residential shortage.

"The rent control bill in Washington has a clause inserted by certain lobbies eliminating all controls on non-residential building," explained Nixon. "When it becomes a law, presumably many industrial buildings will go ahead. There are not enough building mechanics in Cook county to complete the buildings now in progress if that happens."

"Today no contractor can finish a plastering job unless he guarantees the men work at double time for Saturday and Sunday. Our situation is different from many places that would have no building if confined longer to residences, and I think it should be left to local control."

After a joking comment about "I thought the Republicans wanted to remove all controls," Commissioner Daniel Ryan said he had no objection to the proposal although he had doubts of its effectiveness in the unincorporated areas alone.

"I understand the city is going to take a similar step," said Commissioner Nixon. There were no adverse votes.

Plan new house plan series for local readers

The style of house to build and the price to pay is becoming a conversation piece that has superseded seasonal baseball talk for the average American family.

Today, as the nation faces the greatest home-building boom in its history, with a actual ten million families planning to build or buy their own homes, Paddock Publications, by special arrangements with the Housing Plan Service of New York, is completing plans for presenting to its readers a weekly series of small houses specially designed by outstanding architects to meet the needs of the majority of home-seekers.

Each week in this newspaper will appear one of these houses complete with the architect's rendering of the elevation and detailed floor plans of the interior, together with an explanation of all of the features and details of each house. Arrangements are also being made so that complete working drawings and specifications will be made available to our readers at a very nominal cost.

Prospective home builders in this city will have an opportunity to select their choice of homes in their own price range from among the many varied designs, sizes and details, transforming their dream of today into the perfected reality of a home tomorrow.

There will be the Colonial for the man and woman who like tradition; the dignity of the Regency and Georgian styles; the Cape Codder, always a favorite; the fast gaining in popularity Bungalow; and, for those whose tastes run toward tomorrow, the Modern.

One story, two story and the flexible one and a half story where the upstairs can be finished as the family increases or more funds become available, will all be included in the housing series. Wood, brick, stone, stucco and cinder block will all be shown but the inclusion of basement versus utility room; dinette versus dining room; porch versus patio and the myriad of other housing performances will be left to fireplace discussions of our citizens. Each house will fit cozily into local landscape, for the diversified architecture will give every prospective home builder a wide choice.

Designs meet FHA

All of the houses which will be shown will be designed to comply with the standards and construction requirements of the Federal Housing Administration and the wiring will carry the seal of approval of the National Adequate Wiring Bureau.

The first of the series, The Adams, appears this week on page 13 and will continue as a regular feature every week.

Suburban Cook county has been selected as one of three centers in the United States for study by the U. S. Public Health Service of household septic tank disposal systems. Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, county health officer, disclosed this week.

The benefits of this study, which is already under way, will be better health conditions through safer sewage disposal and lower costs to suburban residents for maintaining this necessary utility.

The survey is being sponsored by the National Housing Agency which is seeking to set standards for the installation of septic tank systems in their projects.

Cook county was selected as representative of the northern area of the country because of the existence of a large number of household disposal systems, an organized source of records on such systems provided by the County Health Unit, the availability of local laboratory space, and a high degree of interest and cooperativeness in such a study by local officials.

In charge of the field investigation seeking to discover how to make septic tank systems operate better, is Paul Agnani, public health service engineer, who will visit representative homes in each township to collect data.

After being granted permission by the householder to inspect the septic tank system, Agnani will make a survey

Arlington woman one of 60 injured in train wreck

Mrs. Milton Daniels, 723 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, who operates a pre-school kindergarten, was one of 60 persons injured Monday evening in the wreck of the Baltimore and Ohio's "Columbian" at Alhambra, LaPorte county, Ind. The train was bound from Chicago to Washington, D. C. Mrs. Daniels was on her way to visit her sister, Dr. Jeanette Nichols in Washington.

Mrs. Daniels was taken to St. Anthony's hospital, Michigan City, Ind.

Mr. Daniels and Mrs. Daniels' sister, Lucille Paddock, left Wednesday morning for Michigan City, but a phone call to the hospital late Wednesday did not bring any definite information regarding Mrs. Daniels' condition other than that she was still in the hospital.

Eight of the train's nine cars were derailed, but none was overturned. The diesel locomotive and the car immediately behind it remained on the rails. Examination of the automatic switch disclosed that a pin had been sheared, diverting the train from the main line to a side track. The force of the impact tore up several rails. Some were snapped off. Others were bent into the shape of horseshoes.

Five of the derailed cars were grouped about 200 yards from the switch. Three others were a quarter of a mile down the side track, while the locomotive and the remaining car, which did not leave the rails, were nearly a mile farther on.

Left Chicago at 4:45 p.m.

The train had left the Grand Central station in Chicago at 4:45 p.m. Monday. The scene of the wreck is 16 miles south of Michigan City, Ind., and about 70 miles southeast of Chicago. The injured were taken to hospitals in Gary, Michigan City, Valparaiso, and La Porte, Ind., to which they were taken by 25 ambulances.

Mrs. Daniels was looking forward to her vacation in the east, which was to include not alone the usual points of interest to the traveler in the cities of New York, Philadelphia and the nation's capital, but thru courtesy cards secured for her by Dr. and Mrs. Nichols expected to visit many places usually not open to the public.

New high school principal on the job July 2nd

Mr. LeRoy Knoepfel, recently elected principal of Arlington Heights high school, is expected to be on the job Wednesday. Mr. Ehrhorn severed his connection with the school Monday. An election authorizing the issuing of $75,000 for equipment and outfitting the new athletic field will be held Saturday, July 12.

Proceeding with the improvement program included in the improvement budget, the board opened bids on three projects to cost $19,000 and authorized advertising for bids on ten others expected to cost $240,000, according to Charles G. Sauer, superintendent.

Building permits break all records at Arlington Heights

Paul Taege, Arlington Heights building commissioner, reports that he issued 45 permits for new homes during June, which totaled $512,000, the greatest amount in any one month in recent years. The greatest previous month was in March 1946 when the total reached $498,500.

Really men state that the market for old homes has fallen so sharply that loan companies are either not interested or will only loan amounts based on pre-inflation values, regardless of the contract prices.

Forest preserve offers cut in debt limitation

In a step described as "keeping faith" with the state legislature which has advanced to third reading a bill to increase the Cook county forest preserve district's maximum land holding limitation from 39,000 to 44,000 acres, the county board this week adopted a resolution decreasing the district's maximum debt limitation from $28,000,000 to $14,000,000.

Commissioner Daniel Ryan, who presented the resolution, explained that the 1946 increased county assessment under the Butler Laws had raised the maximum by three-fifths. Less than $9 million in debt is now outstanding, and since less than $1 million can be spent a year for land, the limit is adequate, Ryan said.

The 5,000 additional acres to be allowed will be mostly Sanitary district land creating a 40-mile belt along the Des Plaines river, under the program recently approved.

Proceeding with the improvement program included in the improvement budget, the board opened bids on three projects to cost $19,000 and authorized advertising for bids on ten others expected to cost $240,000, according to Charles G. Sauer, superintendent.

One $200 award for "Outstanding Service," such as saving life, or exceptional police work "beyond the call of duty," one $100 award for "Efficient Conduct," and four $25 "Service Awards" for the "best suggestions for improvement of service to the public and prevention of fires."

All awards will be made on the recommendations of a committee of five to be appointed by President William N. Erickson.

Rev. Milo J. Vondracek is returning to the Arlington Heights Methodist church for the seventh year. He was renamed to his present post at the annual conference which closed Sunday.

Rev. Theodore Potter is returning to Des Plaines and Rev. Ralph McIntyre to Roselle.

Rev. Christian Doenecke, former pastor of the Barrington church, has been assigned to Willard Memorial in Oak Park. His place will be taken by Dr. Bertram G. Sweeney, who has had charge of the Rockford district of 75 churches.

The conference elected delegates to the general conference which will meet in Boston in 1948 and the jurisdictional which will meet in Indianapolis next year.

Rev. Vondracek and family left this week for their annual vacation which they will spend at Harvard, Mich., with Dr. Earl Latimer of Evanston.

Burning awning draws large crowd fire fans

Arlington Heights fire siren attracted a large crowd to Dunton and Campbell street Monday night at 10:30 when suddenly the awning of the Foley Beauty Shop burst into flames. The awning had been raised several hours earlier. A cigarette is the guess of the firemen. Damage included a window cracked by the heat and the awning.

3c mail rate is now permanent

The three cent mail rate is now permanent. The local postmaster has received many inquiries from post office patrons asking if letter mail would be accepted at the 2c rate which was to go into effect on July 1st. However Congress has decreed that the three cent charge shall be permanent.

Palatine gets city delivery

City mail delivery was inaugurated at Palatine Tuesday when local postal rates jumped from one cent to three cents. Service is being given by two temporary carriers, Benard Dreyer and Wallace Papajski, and a substitute clerk, Irwin Hahnfeld. The three are all G. I.'s.

The carriers are taking out all mail for all residents within the delivery district. Lack of house mail boxes will delay part of the service but the postoffice is doing the best that it can.

County asks state to improve roads to Mt. Prospect and Wheeling Inclusion of two north suburban streets inside village limits in the system of state-aid roads so the county can improve them with gas tax funds, was asked by the county board last week in a resolution forwarded to the state department of public works. Previously the villages had asked the county board to take the action.

The streets, with the state-aid road number of each, are as follows:

Mt. Prospect: Mt. Prospect rd., from south limits to Central rd. (Route 82).

Wheeling: Wheeling rd. (Rte. 250).

Bartlett: Bartlett rd., from Lake st. to north limits.

County authorizes seal coats on five roads in north townships

Five road repaving projects in four north suburban townships, to cost an estimated $48,000, were approved by the county board last week and forwarded to the state highway department for its approval.

All the projects are for a limestone rock asphalt seal coat on existing bituminous and crushed stone bases. They are, with the distance involved and the estimated cost:

Barrington township: Bartlett road, from Higgins to State Rte. 9, distance of 2.84 miles, $21,000.

Elk Grove township: Landmeier road, from Busse road to Higgins (0.81 mile), $7,000.

Maine township: Dee road, from Howard ave. to Northwest highway (.47 mile), $5,000.

Maine township: Potter road, from Ballard road to Evanston-Elgin road (0.78 mile), $6,000.

Northfield township: Sanders road, from Dundee road to Lake-Cook road (1.02 miles), $9,000.

All the projects can be undertaken during 1947 if the state department gives approval.

Looking Pretty While She Waits

If you're going to have a baby, you can expect the compliment ever so often that you never looked prettier. Partly, it just seems to happen. But today's expectant mother knows, too, that it's also because she gives her hair and her health and her clothes extra attention. She wants to look neat and fresh above all, but she wants to dress as much like everyone else as possible.

home and marketing, it's dressy enough for visiting and town. The other dress is equally versatile, a practical sundress without the jacket, and a smart street costume with the jacket. It can also be worn with blouses, as a jumper.

The long cotton housecoat that is again shown in New York maternity collections is a delight before and after baby comes. Becoming styled with a drawstring waist and full skirt to the ankles, it's the type of thing any woman feels her best in when relaxing at home.

Such dresses as these shown from the collections of New York designers of maternity fashions are examples of how little difference in style an adjustable waistline needs to make. The youthful green chambray frock has its belt set in in front but released at the sides to tie in back of the snap-adjusted waistline. Although practical for

Winkelman attends special Goodyear auto service school in Chicago

Elroy Winkelman, owner of Winkelman's Tire & Battery, 115 Davis street, Arlington Heights, recently completed 3½ day service school conducted by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. in Chicago. This school is unique in that it is the first time a complete school of this kind has been handled by visual training methods.

The visual training plan is similar to that used by the Army Air Forces during World War II. Elroy reports many new developments in the new types of services offered. How consumers' tires and cars can be made to run longer and brakes serviced to last longer were interesting parts of the school.

Many new merchandising ideas were advanced, and Elroy reports that the 3½ days spent at this service school was very valuable to him.

Sweazey Jewelers sell Arlington Heights store

The sale of the Sweazey jewelry store in Arlington Heights to John Flaherty of Elgin is announced this week, the deal having been completed Saturday. The new owner has not yet announced his plans for the store here.

Sweazey's will continue to operate their other two stores at Des Plaines and Park Ridge. The disposal of the business at Arlington Heights was made necessary, according to Byron Sweazey, because of the reopening of the Chicago school of watchmaking at 1608 Milwaukee avenue which has been under the direction of the Sweazey's for more than 40 years.

Poole Fords trounce Barrington twice

The Poole Fords legion team played last to Barrington last Friday afternoon although they weren't the perfect host as the scores indicate. Bob Thollander greeted Barrington with a very neat one hitter in the top half of the twin bill. The lone hit was a Texas league single to right field.

Chuck Johnson pitched the second game. He turned in a very creditable job before retiring in the sixth inning in favor of Dick Steffensen. Hitting star of the day was Fred Mueller. Fred has been lacing the ball at a cool 480 and turned in three for four along with two walks.

Tuesday and Wednesday of this week the Fords play the strong Norwood Park legion team. The Fords have won two and lost none thus far in tournament play.

Striped cotton swim suit, pretty in and out of the water, by Tina Leser.

WHAT happens after you get there is half the fun of any vacation. But what you take along is, definitely, the other half. And, of course, the one depends upon the other, generally speaking. All this is especially true this Summer, with every choice under the sun in beach and playclothes.

A good bet for anybody's money because it is one of this season's prettiest examples of the dress-maker look for the beach is the blue and white striped cotton swim suit pictured. Designed by New York's Tina Leser, it has a becomingly gored skirt and a camisole ruffle around the top of the bodice. Most collections of New York designers star the "bathing costume," pairing a swim suit with a little matching cape or shawl, a skirt or a coat. Short beach dresses in stripes, plaids, checks and any number of new and exciting cottons that look as though they were imported from Guatemala or the South Seas make perfect dance dresses. Some of the new cottons are strapless and are worn with little cover-up boleros, first for travel, next for beach, and again for a whirl with your partner.

4-H club news

The Handy Pansies 4-H club met Tuesday afternoon, all members and one visitor present. A talk and demonstration were given by Marlene Landmeier and Benita Riley.

Park Ridge boys beat Arlington

The Park Ridge park district sixth graders visited Arlington's sixth graders and won a thrill packed softball game Tuesday morning by a score of 13-12. The Arlington boys were behind, 6-1, going into the last half of the fourth inning when they broke loose for eleven runs.

Park Ridge battled hard and regained the lead with seven runs in two innings. They never faltered after the eleven run uprising and finally won by the one run margin.

Arlington's team looks very good and with a lot more practice they're going to be tough to beat. Boys who played in the game were Tom Bowersox, Wayne Hesch, Bobbie Dotts, Roy Hinneberg, Johnnie Eakins, Wally Kost, Don Helfers, Craig Baldwin, Ray Stockwell, Jerry Moreth, Mark Creviston, Dickie Brodman, Buddy Meisenheimer, and Chris Kent.

Park Ridge downs Arlington, 7-6

7th and 8th graders

The Arlington recreational park which is part of the recreation program at the park, traveled to Park Ridge last Friday and stayed long enough to absorb a 7-6 defeat.

The boys played well although they need a great deal of work. Gene Wille was the hitting star of the game, getting a cluster of two doubles and a single in four times at bat.

Dahm, the Park Ridge pitcher held the locals hitless for his three inning mound job. The two teams will play a return game at Arlington next week.

Arlington boys who made the trip were, Ray Stockwell, Tom McAuffrey, Don Helfers, Gene Wille, George Wax, Ron Thill, Bob Schulze, Dick Hoffman, Bob Dotts, Derwood Jarssen, Carl Beigel, Dave Quinn, Wayne Herch, Mark Creviston and Herb Van Driel.

VFW notes

The special meeting of the post was well supported and the members are in earnest to put over the celebration. All are urged to lend a hand for even a few hours if possible.

Adjutant Don Oefflein has formed a "clown band" and a "German drill squad" for the Fourth of July parade. Come out and give this hardworking comrade a sendoff.

Comrade chief storekeeper Orwin Philpot, who was seriously ill, is confined to the Navy hospital. He was very active in the post for the short time he was stationed at Glenview.

(starred names or last years veterans)

With such a large group practicing, there will be a number of ballets composed of teams 1 and 2, a quartet, and a number of duets. With good weather, Miss Karstens plans to be ready for the first water show July 23.

LOOKING SMART FOR LITTLE MONEY

LIKING the dress and liking the price tag is perfectly possible, even these days of high living costs. Whatever a woman has to spend otherwise this Spring, she is assured of attractive clothes for "not much money."

The good looking street cottons pictured are examples of the concern New York designers have in the average woman's desire to be "well dressed." The striped dress has this season's interesting new spiral trend in hipline treatment, for instance, and the plaid dress has in its circular skirt all of the extra fabric that is a talking point of many a more expensive fashion. Both dresses catch the eye not only for their up-to-the-minute trends, but for careful workmanship, and for the handling of the pattern for smartness of line.

$50,000 STARS AND STRIPES SATURDAY AT ARLINGTON

SPORTS OUT OF ADAM'S HAT

SCHOOLBOY WHO NOW APPEARS IN THE LIVERY OF THE PHILLIES, IS ONE OF THE FEW PITCHERS WHO'S ALSO BEEN A .300 HITTER.

WHEN 'SCHOOLBOY' ROWE WAS WITH DETROIT IN 1934, HE NOT ONLY EQUALED THE LEAGUE RECORD WITH 16 VICTORIES IN A ROW BUT ALSO LED THE TIGERS TO THEIR FIRST PENNANT IN 25 YEARS.

Stake race at local track Friday

by TOM HART

Fourth of July week at Arlington Park will be featured by the running of the historic Stars and Stripes handicap on Friday for an added purse of $50,000.

This famous race which has seen the downfall of many favorites and the success of many long shots during its lifetime as one of Arlington's feature attractions will again attract a field of the best handicap horses in the country in this year's entry list and will live up to all the traditions of this popular stake.

With the Stars and Stripes as the feature and with a strong supporting cast of well filled races the July 4 program at Arlington Park this year bids fair to again be the magnet for record breaking crowds of racing fans.

Equipoise Mile

The Equipoise Mile last Saturday furnished another red hot battle between With Pleasure and the mighty Armed with Pleasure the winner by a neck in 1:35, just slightly off the world's record of 1:34 2/5 set by the great Equipoise for whom the race was named.

The second week of Arlington racing saw a continuation of the interest and enthusiasm of the big crowds in the fine racing at the beautiful track. Many people make an outing of their day at Arlington, coming out early and eating a picnic lunch on the spacious grounds before it's time for the serious business of trying to pick the afternoon winners.

Favorites win

Favorites in a greater percentage than usual have been coming down in front at Arlington this year to the joy of the form players, but there has also been enough long shots to keep the followers of the long priced horses happy.

This week end Arlington Park bids fair to hang out some new records in attendance and mutual play. With the big card on Friday featured by the Stars and Stripes and with another big feature card on Saturday.

With the fine racing and feature-studded programs being offered at Arlington and Washington Parks, the management of these two tracks are fast realizing their ambition to make Chicago the racing center of America.

Gets baseball letter at Northwestern

Dick Bokelman of Arlington Heights was one of 15 members of Northwestern university's baseball team who were awarded varsity letters at the close of the season. Bokelman, a senior, was captain of the Wildcats nine which won six games and lost five in Big Nine competition.

The former Arlington Heights high school star ranked as one of the leading pitchers in the conference. He was the No. 1 hurler on the Wildcat team for the past three years.

New Job for the Magnet

Recommended as an added tool for the sewing basket is a small magnet, to simplify the picking up of pins and needles.

ley, official of the United Auto Racing Association, sponsors of the weekly series. This policy will continue to be maintained, he said.

The track Scalley added, is in the best possible condition having been chemically treated to lay dust while the turns have been solidly banked with firm clay. Drivers contend it is the sportiest quarter-mile oval in the country.

For July 4th, the trials will start promptly at 6 p.m., to assure a chance for added entrants and the features will begin about 8:30 with eight events on the docket. On Sunday, eliminations will get under way at about 12:30 o'clock and features will begin about 2:30 o'clock.

Twilight golf win to Voss Delicatessen

The Voss Delicatessen team of the Arlington Heights twilight golf league made the most creditable showing last Friday in taking 6 1/2 match points from the tough Bank team, and moved up a notch in the standings. Sieburg Drug moved out in front with a big win over the Arlington Bowling Lanes team.

Chuck Kleinfoten and Earl Stephens tied for low gross with 36 scores. Chuck also tied Bud McKaig and Tony Koske for low net with 32. Bob Frech had low net of 35 for alternates.

Team standings at the half way mark are:

Sieburg Drug Co.	43

Arlington Nat'l Bank	37 1/2
Arlington Bowling Lanes	35
Duntman Dairy	34

Rose Lo cops first half of softball league

The powerful Rose Lo softball team, the only undefeated team in the Arlington Heights softball, easily won honors in the first half of the schedule. Rose Lo power showed up in every game they played and they piled up large scores to win easily. It's hard to pick the individual star on the team because they all got their share of hits, and there was always a lot of pep and hustle on the team.

Nick's Fender Benders ran a close second, having lost only one game and that to Rose Lo. There aren't so many long ball hitters on Nick's team, but they do get plenty of hits and they have shown a wonderful team spirit. Fans are going to hear plenty from this team in the near future.

The other teams in the league had more or less trouble getting started but will probably be heard from in the second half. Mt. Prospect has a good team and should cause a lot of trouble in the second half.

All in all there should be at least four teams fighting for the lead in the second half and there should be some exciting games coming up.

The schedule for the first week of the second half from July 7th to 13th.

Chemical Trade

In terms of dollars, foreign trade does not play a large part in this country's chemical industry. Even so, the United States was third among exporting countries before World War I, being exceeded only by Germany and England. In general, there has been a close balance between exports and imports, with the latter exceeding the former until 1931. Since then exports have exceeded imports in value.

Arlington man promoted in C&NW

Thomas E. Adamson, assistant freight claim agent of the Chicago and North Western Railway, has been promoted to freight claim agent effective July 1, it was announced by Nye F. Morehouse, vice president and general counsel of the railway system.
At the same time Morehouse announced the promotions of Arthur C. Mundy to assistant freight claim agent succeeding Adamson, and Fred C. Beutel, chief clerk of the freight claim department, to assistant freight claim agent.
Mundy first started service with the North Western in 1905 as a clerk and investigator in the freight claim department. No Fireworks

As the 4th of July approaches this year, we are reminded to urge the full cooperation of the residents of this community in enforcement of the Illinois Fireworks Law. As defined in the statute the retail sale and use of fireworks are illegal.

The State of Illinois ranks third highest in the United States with bad fireworks records. As in years past, the Arlington Heights police have been directed to suppress shooting of fireworks and we feel sure that we can count on everyone in Arlington Heights and community to help make this year with no fireworks accidents.

Prospect Heights approves school referendum

Sixty-seven civic minded residents remembered the Prospect Heights school referendum held at the schoolhouse Saturday afternoon, June 28. They voted 67 to 1 to authorize their local board of education to increase its tax levy limit from 75 hundredths per cent to 90 hundredths per cent for educational purposes. By their devotion to their duty as citizens, and their ballots, they insured the continuation of full term schooling for Prospect Heights' youth.

The most surprising and most unexpected turn of events was noted by watchers just prior to the closing of the polls. A check revealed that only 21 parents representing only 12 families out of some 202 mothers and fathers who send their children to the school, had voted. Forty-seven or practically 70 per cent of those who voted, had no children in the school and were voting as citizens and tax payers.

With parents not bothering to vote and civic minded citizens taking time out from home necessities or life pleasures in order to vote, the large "yes" vote was in reality a vote of confidence and an approval of the Board of Education's management in school affairs. It was an excellent testimonial to those who give freely of their time and talents for the benefit of the community.

The referendum had been called by the Board of Education as a protective measure to insure the school operating its full time during 1948. Butler law amendment bills S224 and 234 and H-513, if passed by the State legislature at Springfield, would cripple the Board's taxing power, because of its low rate formula previous to 1944, and nullify the rate approved by the referendum in 1945. Since 1945 the Board has had ample taxing power which it has not used.

To protect the community's youth the Board's legal advisors suggested a referendum to increase the tax rate and thus not subject the district to the law, if passed. Board members concurred and set June 28 as the date of the referendum.
Parents of all school children were apprised of the situation by letter and because of their vital interest a heavy ballot had been expected.

The polls were open from 12 noon until 7:00 o'clock Saturday evening. Mrs. Homer C. Torreyson and Mrs. Claude L. Holcomb served as judges of election with Mrs. Rex Dallstrom and Mrs. Charles Ledyard, clerks. The Board of Education met at 7:30 o'clock to canvass the returns and pass the necessary resolutions complying with the school laws.

Cooked Dressings
Cooked dressings, especially for fruit salad or cabbage slaw, may be made with either grapefruit or orange juice. Many people add a little sugar to this dressing to "take the edge off" the vinegar or lemon juice. With the milder citrus juices, sugar is not needed. For a citrus salad — sections of orange and grapefruit with lettuce — use the juice that drips off the fruit in the trench dressing.

Cemetery in fine shape

The Hillside Cemetery association of Palatine which is now in full operation, has the cemetery in excellent shape, and the officers of the association and the grounds committee are taking a keen interest in seeing that their new venture proves a success from the very start.

Permanent care is now a reality, and over $12,500 has already been collected toward the permanent care fund.

Ten thousand dollars has been invested in government bonds, the interest from which will be used to take care of the cemetery.

Additional bonds will be purchased as the fund increases, and the officials of the association urge all interested persons who have not joined the association and paid their $100 membership fee to do so at once. They are also asking the contributors for an additional $5.00 to take care of this year's work, as the funds from the bond interest will not be available for another year.

The permanent care markers are now in place, and considerable trouble has been caused by youngsters pulling them up and throwing them around, also by the breaking of flower containers that are left at the cemetery.

With the cemetery care one

Proud parents

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ciezadlo, 105 So. Parkway, Prospect Hts., became the proud parents of a baby girl born Friday evening, June 20, at the Palatine Community Hospital, in Palatine. Nancy Ann weighed 7 pounds, 2 oz. at birth. The Ciezadlos have two other children, Bunny and Marty.

Rural America
Embracing 43.6 per cent of the total population, rural America is divided approximately into family farms and towns of less than 2,500 population.

of the most worthwhile projects that has ever taken place in Palatine, the youth of the village should refrain from causing trouble and damage anything in the cemetery boundaries. It should not be used as a play ground, and the kids should do their share toward making the project a success.

Great credit is due to the people who have worked long and earnestly on this permanent care project and who are giving up a great deal of time and energy in the successful management of the venture.

Permanent care has really become an accomplished fact, and all lot owners are urged to join in this progressive movement.

Stop eastern freight, fly part to save city water supply

Good judgment and many long hours of hard work by Supt. E. Warnecke and other Des Plaines city employees, saved the city from what seemed to be a serious water shortage problem last week, when the main bearing on the huge pump at the city well burned out Saturday afternoon.

Steps were immediately taken by Mr. Warnecke to obtain emergency water from Benjamin Electric and from Park Ridge. Efforts were then made to secure repair parts, and it was found that a new bearing, ordered sometime ago, was enroute to Des Plaines by rail, from New York City. Tracing the shipment from that city, a car was dispatched which caught the freight train near Norfolk, Va. The bearing was taken in the car to Washington, D. C., and was there placed aboard an airliner which left that city at ten o'clock Monday morning. It arrived in Chicago that evening and the pump was operating Monday night.

Gems of thought

ENDURING TREASURES

How much better is it to get wisdom than gold! and to get understanding rather to be chosen than silver!

—Proverbs 16:16.

By wisdom wealth is won; But riches purchased wisdom yet for none.

—Bayard Taylor.

Self-forgetfulness, purity, and love are treasures untold—constant prayers, prophecies, and anointings.

—Mary Baker Eddy.

Therefore, come what may, hold fast to love. Though men should rend your heart, let them not embitter or harden it.

—F. W. Robertson.

There never did, and never will exist anything permanently noble and excellent in the character which is a stranger to the exercise of resolute self-denial.

—Sir Walter Scott.

What then remains? Courage, and patience, and simplicity, and kindness, and last of all, ideas remain; these are the things to lay hold of and live with.

—A. C. Benson.

LOUIS EICHLER

The will of Louis Eichler, Arlington Heights, who died January 5 in Des Plaines, has been admitted to probate in Chicago. He left his entire $5,000 estate to his brother, Frederick, of Palatine.

Ann Marsiglia weds Clifford Doerrler

A rainbow wedding took place Saturday, June 28, at 4:00 p. m. at the St. Theresa Catholic church where Rev. William Murray united Miss Ann Marsiglia and Clifford Doerrler in marriage. The double ring ceremony took place in front of the altar decorated with white carnations and white gladiolas.

The bride wore an imported French lace gown with fingertip veil. She also wore for something new, a gold cross given her by the groom; for something old, her wrist watch; for something blue, the satin bows on the edge of her slip; for something borrowed, a lace handkerchief. Her bouquet was of white carnations, orange blossoms, and a lavender orchid, tied with a white satin bow.

The groom was attired in a summer formal.

The flower girl, Rita Ann Andronaco, cousin of the bride, was dressed in a gown similar to the bride's and carried a basket of white and pink rose petals. The ring bearer, Ben Marsiglia, brother of the bride, carried a heart shaped pillow.

Mary Marsiglia, maid of honor, wore a yellow chiffon gown and yellow accessories and carried a bouquet of white carnations tied with a yellow satin bow. Marge Marsiglia, sister of the bride, was a bridesmaid and was attired in a soft pink chiffon gown and had a bouquet of white carnations. Bernadine Doerrler, sister-in-law of the groom, the other bridesmaid, wore an aqua gown and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

The best man was Raymond Doerrler; ushers were Earl Dolan and Joseph Dyson. All wore summer formal.

The bride's mother wore a deep orchid crepe dress with accessories and a white gardenia corsage. The bride's father had on a dark suit.

The groom's mother wore a blue crepe dress and had a corsage of white gardenias.

Out-of-town guests attending the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. S. Fritz, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fritz, Mr. and Mrs. John Andronaco, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dolan, Mr. and Mrs. William Runge and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Luxe, all of Chicago.

The reception took place at the Moose Lodge hall in Chicago. Music was furnished by the "Homer Melody Makers," led by William Rodrian of Palatine. A buffet dinner was served. Approximately 250 guests were present at the reception.

The bride's bouquet was caught by her sister, Marge, at 11:00 p. m. when the bride and groom left for the Stevens Hotel. They will spend a week in the Wisconsin Dells and then will reside at the home of the groom's parents for the present.

That before the general adoption of glass in windows, thin plates of horn were often used, as they still are in barbarous parts of Asia. Horn was also used for lanterns and book covers, hence the name horn-books.

JOIN THE NATIONAL HIGHWAY SAFETY DRIVE

DRIVE CAREFULLY OVER THE HOLIDAYS

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES: "The problem of lowering the highway death rate remains one of the nation's most serious problems. It is an appalling fact that 33,500 American citizens were killed in automobile accidents in 1946. I therefore call upon every State and every community in the land to work unceasingly through 1947 to promote highway safety.

"Laws and regulations will be of little avail unless the individual driver holds himself strictly accountable to his own conscience."

That call is to you personally to cooperate as a citizen of the United States in helping reduce highway accidents. It is a shameful record when in one year 33,500 lives are sacrificed; 1,150,000 persons are injured and $750,000,000 in property destroyed, resulting in an economic cost to the nation of $2,000,000,000 because of careless, reckless driving.

It is a national problem, but essentially the solution is in your hands. Drive safely — live and let live!

Maternity Basic

Capel shoulders for a brown crepe dress for mothers-to-be.

A dark all-purpose crepe dress the mother-to-be can wear all Spring and into Summer is a "must" in her wardrobe. Especially as she gets larger and perhaps feels more at ease in not-too-light shades, she will want such a dress for shopping and luncheon, and practically all occasions not calling for decided dressing-up.

The brown crepe dress shown, by a New York designer, has a gay touch on top in the multi-color print giving this season's capel effect. Like many of the new maternity dresses, it is designed to keep its smoothness in front. The waistline is adjusted with invisible ties from the sides and all of the dress fullness is in back.

Uncle Sam Says

This is a good story and it's about you, pop. The chapter I am reading is entitled "Security." It tells about your Payroll Savings, the easy, automatic way you are building up a comfortable nestegg for the future of yourself and your family. Best part of all, pop, is the fact that millions of my nieces and nephews have the same important place in this story of a happy future as yourself. They, too, are buying United States Savings Bonds regularly.

WHAT'S DE GOOD OF TALKIN' TO A LAZY MAN WHO'S HEALTHY AND HAPPY

DO YOU KNOW—

That the month of May was named, some say, by Romulus in respect to the senators and nobles of his city who were called, "majores." Others claim it was named from Maia, the daughter of Atlas and the mother of Mercury.

Use More Honey
Before the war the United States was a honey exporting country. While it imported about a quarter of a million pounds in 1939, it shipped ten times that amount. The next year, however, imports nearly doubled. They continued to increase until they reached a peak of more than 36 million pounds in 1943. At the same time, production of honey on farms throughout the United States was multiplying. It totaled more than 233 million pounds in 1945.

JULY 6, 1917 Our Aim: To Fear God, Tell The Truth, and Make Money. JULY 6, 1917

Will have fresh air camp at Deer Grove

Deer Grove forest preserve picnic grounds are to be used as a summer fresh air home for the poor children of Chicago and next week 200 mothers and children will move out there where they will spend two weeks. A new party will come out for the second two weeks, until it is estimated nearly 1,000 will partake of the country air. These will be followed by a large camp of boy scouts later in the summer.

Owing to a permit that was issued some time ago to the Freight Handlers for their annual picnic, that organization is being allowed to hold its advertised picnic Sunday which is the last time this summer that our people can make use of the buildings. The forest preserve, proper, is open to the public at all times.

Road commissioners inspect highways

The highway commissioners of Cook county, who are also members of the Good Roads association, with some of their friends recently had their annual outing and tour of inspecting roads and roadwork in adjoining counties. Under mutual agreement it is their custom to alternate their tour south one year and north the other. Arrangements this year had been made for a trip to Pistakee Bay, McHenry county.

It was not merely a trip of recreation but to see the conditions of roads in other territory and compare with their experience for the betterment of conditions in Cook county. With this end in view the day was ideal as during the night two hours of somewhat more than a drizzly rain had put the roads in exactly that condition when good and bad can easily be detected.

The gentlemen of the south end of the county gathered at Blue Island, but because of the threatening weather were late in starting and arrived at Mt. Prospect about 10 a. m. where they were greeted by the commissioners of Northfield, Maine and Elk Grove. After a short rest the party left in eight automobiles for Palatine where five other machines were waiting for them.

Arriving at Lake Zurich about 11:40, the party witnessed faithful Maude trying hard to move a derailed freight car. The oiled streets there will prove a blessing in disguise to the habitual speeder at all times.

Has extension of concrete built

August Kelling, Arlington Heights, has secured a deed from the C. & N. W. Ry. to land occupied as a street south of his place and is having a 30-ft. concrete pavement with 5-in. bed and 1-in. top dressing built from Evergreen st. 132 ft. east by Joseph Vetter.

If this proves to be a success it will be extended on to State road and probably other extensions will be made by local men.

Fiedler farm sold at auction

At the Fiedler farm sale, Roselle, conducted by Attorney Rathje of Chicago, the lucky bidders were John Blank, 8 acres across the road at $161 an acre; the old homestead went to August Hahman of Schaumburg for $2,350. Wm. Franzen got three corner lots for $900.

H. J. Mersching obtained the cottage for $775; Adam Bortner the bungalow $575. W. J. Turner bid in the farm at $195 an acre.

Tales of the STREET

BY T. C. HART

THE COFFEE HOUR

Between the dawn and the noontide
When the cares of business are dour,
Comes a pause in the hurry and bustle
That is known as the coffee hour.

It is then that dull care is lifted
And over the steaming brew
That the boys find over at Lena's
Life begins all anew.

It is there about every morning
Around the witching hour of ten
The mechanic shuts up his tool box.
And the office man lays down
his pen.
The discussions are many and varied.
The topics both weighty and light—
From the over riding of vetos
To results of a coming fight Sometimes a discussion of business,
At others the doping a race.
But here tough problems all vanish.
And of worry there isn't a trace.

Here all relax for the moment
With good fellowship reigning supreme.
With ideas blooming and popping
As they bask in a coffee dream.

If a man is "out" at his office
Around that hour of ten,
The betting is better than even He'll be found at the coffee den.
Yes, when trials of business get weighty,
And dispositions are tending to sour,
You'll find the boys over at Lena's
At the time of the coffee hour.

PATIENT

Farmers are patient people.
When Bill Bauman was asked the other day if the farmers didn't get tired of those big holes in the road near the depot where they load the milk cans, he replied, "Well, if the people of Palatine who use that street several times a day can stand it, we hay shakers who use it once a day surely can."

Oh well, boys, maybe some day there will be a nice pavement there for you to use.

NOW IT'S ROBINS

Fred Blume is having a lot of trouble with that garden of his this year. First it was the rabbits that raided his pea vines, and now it's robins after his strawberries.

Fred told us the other morning that if we weren't working, he'd give us our board to come up and keep the robins out of his strawberry patch.

Well, that ought not to be such a bad deal. If we kept the robins away and Fred got some berries, maybe a strawberry shortcake would be included in that board business, and that would really be something at present prices of the berries.

We bought a quart in the city one day for 32 cents which we thought were o. k. Then we got a box in Palatine for 52 cents, and we'll be darned if we can see why a quart of berries in Palatine is worth 20 cents more than it is in Chicago. Surely the transportation charges aren't that much different.

When we asked Fred why he didn't get some mosquito netting for his berry patch, he said,
"How can I with the only store in Palatine closed?" referring to the Schoppe's store closing for a week's vacation.

MATERIAL

Evidently Red Helms thought, after seeing a soft ball game the other night that the Legion team could use some base ball material.

At any rate he popped his head into Roy La Londe's office
the other day and asked Captain Bud Nangle of the Legion team
if he wanted to ride to Arlington Heights with him.

"Why?" Bud asked.
"Because," said Red, "I'm going down to the Old Folks Home and I thought maybe you'd like to go along and pick up some ball players."

AGAIN, AGAIN, AND AGAIN

Evidently the C. and N. W.
Railway believes in keeping alive that old saying of our late president.

At any rate, that's the way they continue to run their trains through the Palatine station while other trains are there.

One morning this week the 9:46 Chicago bound and a late north bound local were both in the station at the same time when a fast north bound train roared through on the center track.

Wednesday morning the 9:46 was pulling into the station and again the fast north bound train roared through.

And railroad officials tell village officials that they are "checking up," that they have "spotters out," and that they have asked the local police to cooperate.

Well, the local police don't know anything about any such request for cooperation, and if the spotters are on the job, they must have their eyes shut.
Just keep it up, and kill off some more citizens, and when that happens, the age old cry will go up, "Who's to blame?"

GARDEN NOTES

Things are really beginning to grow in the garden since the advent of some warm weather.
Alderman Lisle McKown looked out of the window at the village hall the other evening and remarked that you could really begin to see rows of vegetables in the garden and that for a while this spring it looked as if there wouldn't be anything in the gardens.

The way a few warm days have boosted things along in the garden is remarkable. Hadishes that looked as if they were never going to make anything developed as if by magic, lettuce that was standing still seemed to mature to eating size over night, and bean plants started a sudden growth. We imagine that George Wilson's beans are developing so fast that he won't be able to keep up with them.

Louis Freise told us the other morning that he'd just walked through his tomato patch and that while the plants were alive and looked as if they ought to grow, they really seemed to be getting smaller.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

by LeLand Ellis Truxell

It is a common fact of life that we are all products of the appreciation which other people show for us. We are inclined to do the things which are acceptable to the society or environment in which we are born. We hide or discontinue the things which meets with the disfavor or criticism of others.

A school teacher told me the other day that the greatest aid in promoting the abilities and efforts of the children in her class is to show her appreciation for what the children do.

"You may look at a picture that a child has drawn, or an examination paper he has completed, and see only the mistakes he has made. On you may look for only the good points. But if you will praise him for what he has accomplished, he is willing to listen to his mistakes in the anticipation that when he has corrected them he will receive further praise. If you show him only where he is wrong, the incentive to improve is much decreased."

People are happier, too, when they learn to appreciate the beauty and goodness that exists in others and in the things about them. When we look for the sordid things in life, when we seek to find fault rather than to appreciate the goodness of others,

when we seek the thorns on a rose rather than the exquisite beauty of its blossom, we are all ways unhappy about it, and we make other unhappy as well.

I have noticed in myself that when I start out on my route in an unhappy frame of mind, I can quickly restore my good humor when I strive to appreciate the beauty of things about me.
A beautiful home, a flower garden, the smooth green surface of a well groomed lawn, the eager laughter of children going to school, the soft whiteness of new fallen snow, the song of a bird or the cherry greetings of the people on my route give me a quick lift out of my route lift out of my despondency, make my work easier and restore my peace of mind.

I have found, too, that I can increase the happiness of others by showing an appreciation for the things that they do — their hobbies, the way their yards and homes are kept up, their taste in landscaping, clothing, the kindnesses they show me, their children, and their abilities and activities.

Your capacity for appreciating the excellence of others is a good measure of your character. For unless you are endowed with good qualities yourself, you can not comprehend such values in others.

YOUR DENTAL IQ

Question: What foods contain calcium? Does a lack of calcium cause teeth to decay rapidly? —
Miss J. C.

Answer: Nutritionists tell us that milk is our best source of calcium. Next in line come the other dairy products such as cheese, cottage cheese and ice cream. Other foods that have a high content of calcium are carrots, cabbage, celery, cauliflower, eggs, whole grain cereals, oranges, prunes and nuts. The outer or surface enamel of the teeth is formed during the first fourteen or fifteen years of life. Therefore, authorities advise that the diet during the tooth-forming period, that is from birth until adolescence include a sufficient amount of foods containing calcium and phosphorus — plus an adequate amount of vitamins A, C, and D. While the exact role that diet plays in the prevention and control of dental decay is not as yet well understood, authorities agree that both child and adult should keep at a minimum the intake of highly refined carbohydrate foods, such as sugar, candy, jelly, pastry, and other highly sweetened food. It is highly possible that America's high sugar bill accounts for many of our national dental ills.

Health authorities may not agree on the advisability of infants using gymnasium rings, although they do agree that both children and adults need rational daily exercise. Furthermore, teeth and their supporting tissues need exercise. From about the twelfth month and throughout life, some coarse food should be eaten each day to stimulate the gums and muscles of mastication.

Small boy loses four fingers in electric grinder

Just at the age when curiosity plays a very important part in a child's activities, Dicky Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Porter,
300 S. Western ave., Park Ridge, aged three and a half, found his father's grocery store temporarily unattended. Climbing on the meat block, Dicky started the motor of the meat grinder, catching his hand in the machine. The whole hand just beneath the base of his thumb was severed. His frantic screams brought his mother who stopped the motor.

The child was rushed to the Norwegian American hospital in Chicago for treatment. Doctors are of the opinion that perhaps a little later, surgery may be used to graft another hand on to enable Dicky to have some use of his hand.

Science Does Its Part to Improve Agriculture; Lessen Farm Burdens

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Farmers today are business men in every sense of the word and, collectively, they are in the best financial position in their history. Many factors have contributed to the progress made by farm families in raising agriculture to an $82,000,000,000 industry, in improving their way of life and in increasing their farming efficiency. Chief among these factors, however, has been the quick adoption by farmers of new and better ways of doing the farm job.

Agricultural science has replaced tradition in plinting the way to the development of harder crops and the use of soil conservation, to the mechanization of field work and, more recently, to the electrification of choring equipment. Farm electrification, the latest time and labor saving advance made in farming methods, long since has passed the experimental stage.

The result of work done in adapting electricity to farm production equipment has led to the electrification, so far, of more than 3,335,700 farms, or 56.9 percent of the nation's total. Colleges of Agricultural Engineering, State Agricultural Experiment Stations, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and others have done much to inform farmers about making profitable and practical use of electricity.

What are some of the farmstead jobs that electricity can do? Well, here are a few, together with the number of kilowatt hours of power required for each: Feed grinding, 1/10 to 3 per 100 pounds (depending on size of motor); grain elevating, 1 1/10 to 5 per 1,000 bushels (depending on size of motor); milk cooling, 25 to 30 per month per 10-galons per day; silo filling, 1 to 1 1/2 per ton; water supply for all farm purposes, 15 to 25 per month; barn hay curing, 60 per ton; milking (portable type machine), 1 1/2 per cow per month; milking (pipe line milker), 2 to 3 per cow per month; lighting of entire farm, 25 to 30 per month; fruit grading, 1/2 to 1 1/2 per 100 bushels; sheep shearing, 1 1/2 per 100 sheep.

And in the residence, 25 kilowatt hours of electricity per month will provide light and the power needed to operate all small household appliances, such as a coffee maker, toaster, etc.

It is no wonder, therefore, that farmers welcomed the arrival of the present electro-agriculture age. It should have come sooner for, not only has it made farming easier, more profitable and more efficient, but also has brought about improved farm living conditions.

SCIENCE HELPS THE FARMER—in the fields, on the farmstead, in the home.

Suggests corn borer control with DDT dust

A 5 percent DDT dust applied at the rate of 25 to 30 pounds an acre is suggested for corn borer control by G. B. Decker, entomologist, State National history survey and the University of Ill.

From one to four or five applications will be needed. If four or five applications are to be used, the first should go on a day or so after the first eggs hatch in the field. If fewer applications are to be made, start four or five days later, and if only one is to be made, apply it about 10 days after the first eggs hatch.

Decker questions the advisability of treating corn in the general area of Champaign county, where the infestation of corn borers is comparatively low. Farther north and west, however, treatment should increase the margin of profit.

"Our research on insecticides for corn borer control indicates that, where borer populations are high, treatment of early-planted corn, which we all know is most severely damaged, will pay dividends," Decker said.

At present DDT and a new material called Ryania seem to be outstanding for control operations. Both may be used as sprays or dusts. However, DDT has the advantage of availability, as Ryania is handled by only a few dealers.

When DDT is used as a spray, use either two or three pounds of a 50 percent DDT wettable powder or one quart of a 25 percent DDT emulsion concentrate in 100 gallons of water, and apply 100 to 150 gallons an acre. As a dust Decker recommends applying a 5 percent DDT dust at the rate of 25 to 30 pounds an acre.

To obtain the maximum protection on heavily infested corn, four and sometimes five applications of spray or dust should be made at about five to seven-day intervals. Four applications at about five-day intervals will usually give 90 per cent control or better. Market gardeners who produce early maturing corn must strive for perfection, and they usually use a four or five treatment schedule.

Decker pointed out that one or two treatments will affect 50 to 70 per cent of the total control accomplished by a full schedule of treatments. Therefore producers who want protection from serious losses but who are not striving for nearly perfect protection often choose to use a reduced number of treatments, the number depending on the value of the crop or the seriousness of the infestation. Canners often use three or four treatments, hybrid and seed producers one, two or three, and the producers of field corn only one or two unless they are shooting for a yield record.

There is considerable variation in cost, depending on the equipment used, quantities of material purchased and other factors. Last year cost figures reported by several growers ranged from $1.75 to $3.50 per acre per application for materials and labor.

Farm soil tests reveal some possible yields

By having his soil tested, the Ill. farmer can determine how efficiently he is farming insofar as his soil is concerned. Tests will tell him whether he can expect a 75, 85, 95, or 100 per cent yield for average growing conditions.

If the results of the soil tests are to be accurate, soil samples must be taken correctly and must be representative of the soil in the field, says A. U. Thor, agronomy extension, University of Ill. college of agriculture. In order to use soil tests to the best advantage, the farmer must add whatever mineral elements the tests show to be lacking. Then, in addition, he must adopt a good soil conservation program, which includes a good rotation, including clovers and grasses suitable to the type of soil he is farming.

Failure to apply limestone, phosphate, potash and minor elements, if needed, will cost the farmer large sums of money in loss of clover stands and poor crop yields.

Thor referred to Dr. R. H. Bray's phosphate and potash tables, from which crop yields can be forecast fairly accurately when the available phosphorus and potassium tests are known. The tables are based on the crop yields obtained from the Ill. soil experiment fields over the past 30 years.

From information gained by testing soil throughout the state, it is known that about 75 per cent of the state's soils need phosphate, 50% still need limestone. Thor estimates that at present about 12 million tons of rock phosphate need to be applied to Ill. soils to bring them up to maximum production. Such an application would last about 10 years. If 20 per cent superphosphate is used, an annual application of about 850,000 tons will be needed.

About 300,000 tons of 50 per cent muriate of potash is needed to correct the present potash deficiency in the state.

In 1945 Ill. farmers applied about 385,000 tons of rock phosphate, 32,000 tons of 20 per cent superphosphate, 8,000 tons of muriate of potash and 150,000 tons of mixed fertilizers.

"It is evident that we have only scratched the surface in taking care of the fertilizer needs of Ill. soils," Thor stated. "If soil tests are to be used effectively, we must make every effort to increase the production of fertilizing materials, and then the farmer must see that the proper fertilizers are applied to the land where they are needed."

Thor said that 66 Ill. county farm bureau laboratories in the state are testing soils for acidity, available phosphorus and potassium.

Thinner Lenses
Because of greatly improved recipes for ophthalmic glass the lenses of American spectacles generally are thinner than they were a few decades ago.

Cukes and pickles

There are two general types of cucumbers and several varieties of each type. The types are the White Spine and the Black Spine. These terms have reference to the color of the small, stiff, spiny structures that occur on the fruits. The two types are grown for two distinctly separate purposes.

Cucumbers designed to be eaten in the fresh state are known in the vegetable trade as slicers or cukes. White-Spine varieties are used for this purpose. The fruits are eight to 12 inches in length and two to 2 1/4 inches in diameter. A uniform dark green color is desirable. Cucumbers are harvested just as they reach full size, while the seeds are still soft.

Cucumbers designed for processing are called pickles. Black-Spine varieties are used for this purpose. In general pickle varieties are far more prolific, but the fruits are much smaller than in the cukes. Pickles are again roughly divided in two groups. The very immature specimens two to 2 1/2 inches are used in making a wide variety of sweet pickles. Specimens four to five inches long are used in making dill pickles. Commercially the two sizes are picked together and separated by a grader when they are delivered at the processing station.

Cucumbers are a definitely warm-season crop. They must not be planted until warm weather comes. They are usually planted in hills of six to eight seeds. The hills are four to five feet apart and in rows which are also four to five feet apart. After the seeds have germinated, the plants are thinned out, leaving only two or three of the strongest and most vigorous. The harvest of pickles begins about 60 days after the seed is planted. Harvest of cukes begins 65 to 70 days after planting and continues for several weeks.

Lesson in English

by W. L. GORDON

Words often misused

Do not say, "John, as well as William, are married." Say, "John, as well as William, is married."

Do not say, "If either of the men want to go, tell them to see me." Say, "If either of the men wants to go, tell him to see me." Either is a singular noun, and the pronoun and verb should be singular.

Do not say, "I prefer detective stories, mystery stories, and such like." Say, "and the like."

Do not say or write, "With regards to your letter." Say, "in reference to, in regard to, or with regard to your letter."

Do not say, "I didn't talk with him yet." Say, "I haven't talked with him yet."

Do not say, "A young lady wishes to speak with you." Say, "A young woman."

Words often mispronounced

Mousse (a frozen dessert). Pronounce moos, oo as in moon.

Applicable. Accent first syllable, not the second.

Experiment. Pronounce second e as in pet, not as in peer.

Lancaster. Pronounce lang-kaster; both a's as in (second a unstressed), accent first syllable.

Pineal. Pronounce pin-e-al, i as in pin, e as in me unstressed, a as in at unstressed, accent first syllable.

Pier. Pronounce per, e as in here.

Words often misspelled

Candor; or Slander; er, Paderewski (Polish pianist and composer). Paroxysm; observe, the xysm. Masquerade; observe the quer. Anoint; an. Annul; ann. Underrate; two r's.

Word study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Lambent; softly radiant. "Those eyes only are beautiful, which like the planets, have a steady lambent light." — Luminous, but not sparkling.

Colliery; a place where coal is dug; a coal mine. (Pronounce kol-yer-i, o as in doll, accent first syllable).

Inextricable; incapable of being disentangled. (Accent second syllable). "He found himself in difficulties that seemed inextricable."

Subserve; to serve in a subordinate capacity or manner. "Not made to rule, but to subserve where wisdom bears command." — Milton.

Vibrant; vibrating; pulsing. "The city was vibrant with life."

Heinous; hatefully bad; atrocious; giving great offense. (Pronounce hay-nus, accent first syllable). "It was a heinous offense."

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

1. Should a woman always remove her hat in a theater?

2. When removing bread from its plate, should one spear it with a fork?

3. Is it obligatory to answer notes of sympathy that are written to an invalid?

4. In whose name should wedding announcements or invitations be sent if the parents of the bride are both dead and her only relative is an older brother?

5. Is it all right for a man to wear colored socks with full dress?

6. Is it obligatory to send a gift when called to notify of the birth of a baby?

7. Is it all right, for social correspondence, to use envelopes with colored linings?

8. When introducing herself, should an unmarried woman say, "I am Miss Blank," or, "I am Mary Blank?"

9. Who is entitled to the seat facing forward when traveling on a Pullman?

10. Is it proper to butter a slice of bread while holding it in the hand or placing it on the table?

11. What kind of wedding gift should be given to a couple who have very little money and few material possessions?

12. Is it necessary that a woman remove her gloves when shaking hands?

Answers

1. Yes. It is considered bad form to keep the hat on, no matter how small it is — and in the case of some hats it is very inconsiderate of those seated in back of you if the hat is kept on.

2. No; removed it from its plate with your fingers. 3. Yes; if the invalid is too ill to answer them, some other member of the family should do it. 4. Have the invitations or announcements sent out in the name of the brother.

5. No; black hose only should be worn. 6. It is not obligatory, but is customary to do so. 7. Yes; if transparent envelopes are used, they may be lined with color to make them opaque, but the quiet tones of lining should be used.

8. "I am Mary Blank" is the preferred form. 9. The person who has the lower berth reserved has this privilege. 10. No; this is extremely ill-bred. Only enough for the bite should be broken off, buttered, and then eaten. 11. Give them something they need that you are certain they would have to buy if it were not given to them. 12. No.

Questions on G. I. bill

Question: Is it necessary for a claimant to seek the assistance of an attorney in filing a claim with the Veterans Administration?

Answer: No. Veterans organizations and local chapters of the Red Cross will provide the necessary assistance, as will the contact representative of the Veterans Administration.

Question: During the summer school vacation am I entitled to the $20 weekly readjustment allowance?

Answer: Yes, but applicants must be ready, willing and able to accept suitable full-time employment if offered to them.

Question: When I was in service, in my spare time I worked for a railroad as a day laborer. I was paid each day and all work was done in my spare time while not on military duty. Will this restrict me in application for the Illinois State bonus?

Answer: No. It will not restrict you as far as information is available at this time. The work you did was considered on your own time when you were free from responsibilities of military duty.

Question: Must a navy veteran send in the official affidavit (Form 5) if he already has received a claim number from the service recognition board?

Answer: Yes. Even though he has received a claim number as the result of the submission of other proof of service, he still must submit a Form 5 affidavit to establish overseas pay status.

IAA man asks for adequate schools now

Calling for an abrupt break with the past, John K. Cox, Illinois Agricultural Association director of rural school relations, today expressed the hope that Illinois County School Survey Committees will recommend a school system that will appear flexible and modern in the eyes of the next generation.

Make the proposed changes in Illinois rural schools adequate enough to fit the needs of farm children 25 years from now, Cox asked.

Cox pointed out that the survey committees are faced with the prospect of recommending changes in rural schools they think the public will accept or recommending changes it thinks necessary but which might not be approved by the voters.

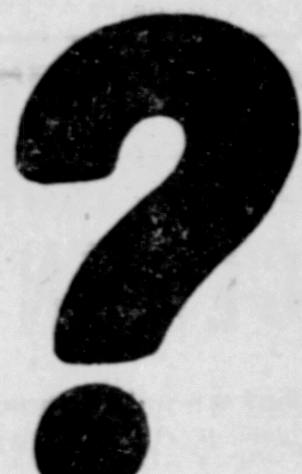

Expressing fears that halfway measures would do more harm than good, Cox said: "Suppose your County School Survey Committee decides on a certain measure of consolidation and reorganization. Now your school is pretty well frozen in its reorganized state for the next 30 years. But if you haven't gone far enough, your children or grandchildren may have to reorganize the schools again and finish the job you only started."

Cox also expressed the hope that members of the County School Survey Committees would give their communities the benefit of their broader knowledge and study by recommending the best possible plan even at the risk of having it rejected at the polls.

Engineers, Designers, Home Economists Join Forces in Assisting Housewives

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Considerable progress has been made in comparatively recent years in the development of time and labor saving equipment to make household chores easier and quicker to perform. Farm wives, particularly, are interested in equipment of this type because it offers them an opportunity to gain a little spare time for leisure, for social and educational activities and for assisting their husbands in doing some of the farm chores.

TIMES CHANGE—and so do cooking methods.

Of all the "electrical helpers" produced to date, some of the most interesting historical data pertains to the development of electric ranges and roasters. About the first recorded sale of electric cooking was in 1907, when the old fireless cooker appeared on a skeptical market. High in price, expensive to operate and awkward in appearance, it was a far cry from today's economically sound and attractive table-top electric range. The electric roaster, an auxiliary to the range, was not offered for sale until 1930, when it appeared in casserole form under the name of the Modern Yankee Bean Pot. Like the range, the roaster, too, has undergone many changes and improvements since its first showing.

Engineers, designers and home economists all have worked together on electric cooking developments in the process of revolutionizing the housewife's concept of the cook stove. Through the use of automatic timing controls, meals may be prepared in advance, placed in the range oven or roaster and left to cook without further attention. The automatic timer turns on the heat at the proper time and turns it off when the meal is cooked. Heat comes up fast and at the exact degree needed.

Many new models contain deep well compartments, serving both for casserole cooking and deep frying. On some ranges, the cooker heating unit can be raised to serve as an extra top-surface unit. Other new ranges feature a built-in pressure cooker. Usually high oven wattage eliminates the need for pre-heating before baking or roasting and permits fast-searing broiling.

There were few electric cooking units on farms prior to the rapid extension of rural power lines, but they are becoming more numerous now as a result of the availability of electricity and the discovery by farm families of new ways of putting kilowatts to more practical and profitable production and household use.

Sell Libertyville Curtiss farm

Announcement of the sale of the Curtiss Candy Co. farm, located on Milwaukee ave. near Route 59A, south of Libertyville, was made to Allied Mills, Inc., one of the largest food manufacturing and soybean processing companies in the country.

The Libertyville location will be used as a research division. The extensive research activities have been carried on at Peoria the last 10 years, and now will be conducted at Libertyville. The farm comprises 655 acres, about 25 major buildings and smaller buildings.

The Jamboree campers. There will be displays, demonstrations, pageants, dramatic shows, concerts, games, campfires and ceremonies. The program features will range from patrol-sized activities of 8 boys to large arena displays by sub-camps and national delegations.

Expect record travel 4th of July week end

Independence Day week end will establish a new peak in holiday traffic leaving the Chicago area, with fully half of Chicago's motor vehicle population embarked on round trips averaging 500 miles, Charles M. Hayes, pres. of the Chicago Motor Club, predicts.

The Chicago area's incoming and outbound traffic over the Fourth, exclusive of purely local traffic, is expected to reach a total of 530,000 cars, carrying 1.59 million passengers, and clocking unprecedented holiday mileages of 265 million miles. These 530,000 cars in their holiday round trips will produce a record traffic volume of 1,060,000 on main highways in the Chicago area, exclusive of local traffic movements.

Chicago and Cook county alone will contribute 300,000 cars and 900,000 tourists to the outbound traffic stream which, by its return Sunday evening, will have clocked a total week end mileage of 150 million miles. Another 150,000 cars with 450,000 tourists from outside the Chicago area will visit Chicago and Cook county over the holiday weekend.

The club's travel bureau is urging holiday motorists taking extended trips not to postpone refilling their gas tanks until their gasoline is low, Mr. Hayes said.

'Night Must Fall' at Lake Zurich

Emlyn Williams' "Night Must Fall" will open Thursday, July 3rd at the New Lake Zurich playhouse, and will play Saturday and Sunday, July 5th and 6th. (There will be no performance on Independence Day.)

Bob Anglund, who has been heard over many Chicago radio stations, will make his debut at the playhouse this summer in the Robert Montgomery role of Darny. The fussy discontented Mrs. Bramson will be played by Geraldine Page, who has just finished playing Elvira in last week's production of "Blithe Spirit." Also heading the acts will be Penny Moran, who has been seen in various roles on Chicago's little theatre stage. Directed by Miss Bella D. Itkin, with settings by Leonor Travis, and technical work done by Walter Backel.

On the bill for next week's entertainment will be "Petticoat Fever," playing July 10th, 11th, 12th, and 13th. Tickets are on sale for all productions and reservations can be made by writing the New Lake Zurich playhouse, Lake Zurich, Ill., or by telephoning L. Z. 4441.

With gasoline supplies tight, motorists during the unprecedented holiday demand may encounter temporary spot shortages at unpredictable locations throughout the middle west which might force them to shop at several stations. At some stations they might also encounter temporary limits on fuel purchases. This possibility does not imply a serious general shortage, Mr. Hayes emphasized.

Says drop in milk prices is not passed on

Although milk prices to Illinois farmer producers are now more than 20 per cent lower than the high point reached in 1946, there has been no corresponding drop in price to the consumer, Judson P. Mason, assistant director of dairy marketing of the Illinois Agricultural Association, pointed out today.

Mason said there were a few exceptions to this condition but that in general the lower prices to producers had not been passed on to consumers in the form of lower prices for dairy products, especially fluid milk and cream.

"It is in the best interests of producers to see that price declines are reflected in retail prices as quickly as possible," Mason said, "in order that consumption of milk may be maintained or increased."

"Farmers do not look with favor upon lower milk prices at a time when the prices of commodities they buy are increasing. This situation becomes further aggravated when the decline in producers' prices merely serves to increase handling margins to milk dealers."

Milk payments

According to figures released this week by Bowman Dairy Co., Cook-DuPage county dairy farmers received $17,125.88 for milk delivered to Bowman receiving stations during the month of May.

Alfalfa hay value lies in leaves

Livestock feeders may be aware of the high feeding value of alfalfa leaves in relation to the stems but they may not know more than in a general way how much difference in feeding value there is between the two parts of the alfalfa plant.

H. J. Snider, assistant chief in soil experiment fields, University of Ill. College of Agriculture, refers to a four and one-half ton crop of alfalfa that was made up of 4,800 pounds of stems and 4,200 pounds of leaves. This crop of three cuttings contained a total of about 1,700 pounds of protein an acre for the season. This amount of protein was distributed 1,150 pounds in the leaves and only 550 in the stems. A little over two-thirds of the protein in this season's harvest was in the leaves which made up less than half the total crop.

Snider pointed out that the protein in alfalfa leaves has a higher digestibility than that in the stems which gives an additional advantage and value.

He observed that the field provided good clean hay relatively free from disease and insect injury and all leaves were saved. Any injury to the leaves by insect or diseases, or loss of leaves in harvesting, lowers the value in the stems as a feed. Results of the test emphasize for the user of alfalfa the urgency of conserving alfalfa leaves in order to save protein.

Cows make test

The 12-cow herd of registered Holstein-Friesians owned by Martin Loeber, Palatine, has recently completed a year of production testing in the official herd improvement registry program of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

An average of 388 pounds of butterfat and 10,514 pounds of milk has been officially recorded. Milking was done 2 times daily. The highest producer in the herd was Lady Mercedes Lyons De Kol 2006209, a 7-year-old, which produced 510 pounds of butterfat and 14,507 pounds of milk.

Testing was supervised by the University of Ill. in cooperation with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Conspicuous Hem

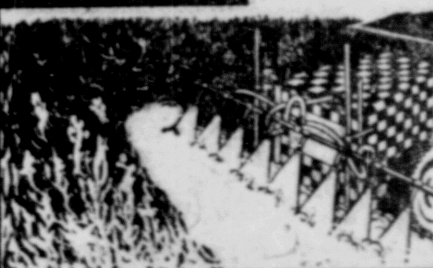

If a hem crease is conspicuous, it can usually be removed by wetting the crease line on the wrong side. Then, turning the goods over on the right side, roll the crease back and forth with the fingers to work it out. Press afterward on the wrong side. Such a simple device as lowering a hem may be enough to keep last season's dress right in style. Such a saving is well worth some extra minutes at the ironing board.

LAW on the FARM

City license laws — A recent article of this series dealt with the Illinois Law of 1872 exempting from city license laws farmers selling their own produce. According to provisions in the act itself, there are only two restrictions on such sales: (1) Sts. spirituous liquors sold by farmers are subject to regulation and license. However, the Ill. Supreme Court added another restriction when it held that a city may enforce a milk ordinance requiring a farmer to procure a license and submit to inspection. The court said that cities have been given the power to protect public health and safety and that "even if the law of 1872 had provided specifically that he (the farmer) might unrestrainedly sell in cities the produce of his farm, including milk, he has no vested right not subject to be taken away if the public health and safety require."

Many of the larger cities in Ill. have, in addition to milk ordinances, license laws with respect to the sale of vegetables, meat and produce. Questions have arisen regarding the application of these license laws to farmers. In view of the decision of the Ill. Supreme Court saying that milk ordinances apply to farmers because the public health is involved, it now appears settled that other license laws and ordinances may also validly include farmers, if protection of the public health can reasonably be said to be a purpose of the license law or ordinance.

The marketing law of 1872 may be found in the Ill. Revised Statutes, Chapter 5, Section 91, and laws giving cities the right to license and regulate the sale of food provisions may be found in Chapter 24.

Illinois Farm Bureau moves to new home

The Illinois Agricultural Association, state Farm Bureau organization, with 14 of its 15 affiliated companies is now in the process of moving to 43 East Ohio Street, Chicago, from 608 South Dearborn Street, the IAA's location for the past 26 years.

With the exception of the Illinois Farm Supply Company, which will remain at the old address for another year, the transfer to 43 East Ohio Street will be completed June 28.

The new building is one block off Michigan avenue just north of the Chicago river. It was bought by the IAA about a year ago, and is 12 stories high. Except for the eight shops on the first floor, the 82,000 square feet of rentable floor space will be occupied by the IAA and affiliated companies.

Des Plaines camp ground program into second week

With Dr. Albert P. Shirkey of San Antonio, Texas, speaking the balance of this week, except Saturday, the annual 2-week summer assembly at the Methodist Camp Ground, Des Plaines, will proceed into its second eventful week.

The afternoon service at 3:00 o'clock will find Bishop J. Ralph Magee of the Chicago Area the featured speaker on the platform.

In the evening the youth meeting will be held at 6:30 o'clock with Dr. David W. Soper of Beloit, Wis., speaking. Dr. Soper will speak again at the 7:45 o'clock service.

Evening services
From Monday, July 7 through Friday, July 11, Dr. Bernard C. Clausen, minister of Euclid Baptist church, Cleveland, Ohio, will speak each evening at 7:45. Music each evening will be by a different choir from the Chicago-land area.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings and afternoons the Institute of the Woman's Society of Christian Service will be held in Wesley tabernacle. There will be many speakers on this program together with music events, a tea and other interesting occasions.

The two-week summer assembly at the Camp Ground closes Sunday evening, July 13.

Horn Fly

The horn fly, a little gray fly about half the size of a house fly, is small but vicious. He may drain as much as a gallon of blood from one animal, interfering with grazing and with the general health of the afflicted animal. Dairy cattle tormented by horn flies lose weight and give less milk. When horn flies are controlled, beef cattle on a good pasture often will gain an additional pound a day. In winter, the house is equally destructive. Calves may die of severe infestations. Cattle that are free of lice may make the same gain on 20 per cent less feed than badly infested cattle.

RAMBLE INN 'N OUTINGS

by BILL NORTH

Here is an important piece of news. It is a request for Youth Center members to work at the carnival sponsored by the City Council. Jobs are open for boys and girls to sell tickets for the rides. There is also a great need for students to sell tickets on the car at the raffle booth.

The carnival, which will be held on the third, fourth, fifth and sixth of July, is most important to the continuance of Rumble Inn and the maintenance of the playground and Park. Ten per cent of all receipts will go to the Youth Center and twenty per cent will go towards supporting the playground. It is important that we as Rumble Inn members, and as residents of the community, participate actively in behalf of this cause. Already two of Rumble Inn's members have worked very hard on this project. Jean Baldwin and Doris Fuhr have been actively pressing the sale of car tickets.

O. R. Cline, president of the community council, sincerely hopes that Rumble Inn members will get in and support the organization which so strongly supports Rumble Inn.

Those interested in obtaining the jobs can see Max Warson either at the Warson Beauty Shop or at the carnival.

Let's get out and push for this worthy organization. It's profitable for us.

—Y. C.—

There is going to be another Rumble Inn roller party held at the Fox Roller Rink on July 14th. It's really going to be great. The buses will be at the field house at seven o'clock and we will be home about 11:30. Grab a telephone, make a date, there'll be a moon. But whether you are going with a girl or not, you'll want to go. Make sure you remember that date. July 14th at 7:00 o'clock in front of the field house. Get there.

—Y. C.—

The adult and student committees of Rumble Inn are working very hard on plans for the forthcoming Y. C. sponsored beach party and Lake Cruise. This column will contain all the information on these great events as soon as definite information is available. Keep watching this column.

tion is available. Keep watching this column.

Y. C.—
If any of the readers of this column have any suggestions, criticisms, or ideas to make Rumble Inn a better place, or to make this column more readable, I would appreciate them very much.

Only by obtaining other people's views and suggestions can anything improve. Send any such suggestions to me, 1234 Mayfair Road, Arlington Heights. I would very much appreciate any comments.

—Y. C.—

The Fourth of July is nearly here. 'Tis our native land's birthday. And all the people far and near will celebrate it in their own way.

Some will go on trips and such. Some will stay on their home soil.

Some will not do very much. Others will continue their everyday toil.
